

RT711 Tank Colours

Water tanks are part of the Australian landscape, all our colours are designed for use in rural, commercial and domestic colour schemes and with the harsh Australian climate in mind, for lasting colour and durability.

What's important: RT711 has a UV resistance level of UV20+, ensuring it will perform under constant sun exposure. It sustains long-term performance due to the Hexene (C6) comonomer with a branch length double that of a regular Butene comonomer (C4).

This also produces excellent 'creep resistance' performance, making it crack resistant and provides superior toughness. A distinguishing feature of RT711UV is that the base resin used has the longest track record in Australia compared with imported base resins. The RT711UV base resin has been specifically designed to withstand the harsh Australian climate, is manufactured in Australia and has an unmatched, superior performance history of over 25 years under a wide variety of environmental conditions. Furthermore, the base resin used for RT711UV has TUV approval to ECE Reg34 Part 1, Annex 5 for use in Diesel Storage applications.

All our tank colours comply with the Australian Tank Standard AS/NZS4766. Certificate No. PTT40011.

Colour card disclaimer: Every effort has been made to represent our colour range as accurately as possible on this card. However, even slight differences in lighting and surface finish may result in differences in appearance being seen compared to the actual colours in the Polyethylene compound. This colour card should therefore be used as a guide, with confirmation of colour being made using Micropellets Rototuff™ Polyethylene colour swatches.
